GOING PLACES

2011/2012 SEASON OF UNCOMMON MUSICALS

GOING PLACES

2011-12 marks 42nd Street Moon's 19th season, and we're taking you on the journey of a lifetime!

When you can't stand the clamor of the noisy town, sail away...

In our season of Uncommon Musicals with uncommon settings, the period and place are integral to the stories told. The Eureka Theatre is your portal to eras and locations that are exotic, glamorous, exciting and even ... dangerous.

San Francisco is our departure point as we start with Cole Porter's light-as-champagne grand tour of Europe (Nymph Errant), and finish with Stein, Kander and Ebb's earthy and life-affirming tale of Athens and Crete (Zorba).

Twice we visit the "Roaring 20s" in America, from the vantage points of 1926 and 1972. Your itinerary: Chicago, Miami, Long Island. We also take you "over the pond" with Continental visits to Oxford, Switzerland, Neuville, Athens, Smyrna, Turkey, the Arabian Desert, Paris, London, Flanders and Crete. In addition to the 1920s, we'll time travel to the 1930s, the late 1960s and the World War I era.

We also briefly check in at the Alcazar Theatre, where our popular salon series celebrates Cole Porter and Jerry Herman.

We don't want to leave without you – so please join us in this captivating journey to great musical theatre!

The Jerry Herman Salon

An 80th Birthday salute to another beloved Broadway tunesmith! Jerry Herman's career began as Cole Porter's was ending, and his shows lit up Broadway through the 1960s, 70s, 80s and into the 90s.

Through the Bottom of the Glass, a little known song from Dear World, typifies the Jerry Herman world view: you just have to know where to aim your gaze and life as it should be reveals itself.

Open a New Window, Hello, Dolly!, It Only Takes a Moment, Mame, World, Take Me Back, It's Today!, Milk and Honey, Shalom, Time Heals Everything, I'll Be Here Tomorrow, I Am What I Am – these great songs and more will illuminate the Alcazar stage for one special evening.
